

Young Leaders Program 2018

The Center for Social Leadership, a Washington, DC-based nonprofit organization, in collaboration with George Washington University School of Business, is currently recruiting its 2018 cohort of Young Social Leaders.

The Young Leaders Program (YLP) is a 5-day program that targets high school students from 9th to 12th grade who are interested in changing their personal lives and their society. The program enables students to learn leadership skills necessary to identify and pursue the careers of their choice. The program provides daily lessons on leadership by global leadership expert, author and trainer Anthony Silard and different panels of speakers. Students will participate in workshops, role plays, and class discussions. There will also be cultural fieldtrips to local museums.

The YLP 2018 provides

- A resume workshop
- Public speaking projects
- Graduation certificate
- Materials
- Lunch and snacks

Location: George Washington University
2201 G St., NW; WDC 20052

Dates: June 25th to June 29th, 2018
Time: 9 am to 6 pm

Metro stop: Foggy Bottom (Blue and Orange lines). From the metro, cross 23rd St., right on 22nd St., Duques Hall is 1 ½ block on the right.

Questions?
Contact

Maira Durazo at 951-532-4507 or via e-mail at
Maira@socialleaders.org

Website: www.socialleaders.org

Testimonials of YLP 2017

One thing I learned in YLP is how to channel experiences into passion and how to use that to an advantage. I also have gained confidence in my abilities and my potential. I feel ready to go out in the real world and make a difference.

-Marafi Badr, J.E.B. Stuart High School

Tony's lesson on passion opened my eyes to how we can transform anything negative in our lives into something good to meet our overall vision.

-Lena Ebadi, J.E.B. Stuart High School